

PLAN Pilot Frequently Used Terms:

Performance-Based Learning (PBL)

assessment, from the classroom to the state level, and they can add evidence to answer questions about student learning. Local assessments still support instruction

Continuum of Assessments in a Multiple Measures System

Depending on the purpose for which an assessment is being used, performance tasks can be part of standardized assessments—as shown toward the left/center of the continuum—or can be designed to incorporate a greater degree of student initiative and choice.

There is no single right way to use PBLA.

Performance-based assessments can be:

Designed to evaluate the process used to solve a t

AND